Shame on the West, local firms over rubbish issue

By MEGAT SHAH RIZAL NOOR IKHSAN (/authors/megat-shah-rizal-noor-ikhsan) - June 16, 2019 @ 10:10pm

WE often look to the West as pillars of examples of good governance and practices, especially on ecological matters.

But lately, I've been looking at these countries with disgust as evidence mounts on their practice of recycling.

They export their rubbish to nations under the guise of recycling while our citizens try to make a quick buck with scant disregard to environment, waterways and air. Shame on all of you.

Action should be taken against those involved in bringing in the waste and a strongly-worded diplomatic note must be sent to the nations involved.

The government should come up with a recycling policy.

Action must be taken against litter louts who plague our nation.

We aspire to be a developed nation, yet our mindset remains undeveloped.
